Throughout his career Archiving, documentation and digitization processes have played an important role.

Digital Senior Lead

Yann Jezequel

Yann Jezequel is a digital senior lead with over two decades of experience in Information Management within regulated Life Sciences environments. He works at Sanofi, a global healthcare leader dedicated to transforming the practice of medicine and improving lives worldwide. At Sanofi, he has built robust, compliant content management platforms and led the development of a global, cloud-based legal archival solution serving all business units. He also designed an efficient operating model to support Sanofians in preserving legal records in line with corporate retention policies. Result-oriented and customer-focused, Yann is committed to delivering simple, cost-effective digital services in collaboration with external partners. Passionate about innovation, he explores how AI can transform legal archival practices.

Head of RIM Processes and Systems

Roberta Buttafuoco

Roberta Buttafuoco is a recognized leader in her field. As Head of Records and Information Management Processes and Systems, Roberta led, among other initiatives, the global rollout of KeepIt—Sanofi's digital archiving solution—empowering teams worldwide to manage information securely and efficiently, without slowing down business. Her expertise turns compliance into a genuine strategic asset. Roberta has successfully integrated complex M&A archives, built robust retention schedules, and launched the Arpeges platform for physical archiving—all while uniting global teams and simplifying the regulatory maze. Known for her thoughtful risk-taking, practical mindset, and straight talk, Roberta excels at translating challenges into actionable solutions that deliver measurable impact. She is a sought-after speaker at industry forums and workshops, sharing her pragmatic approach to change management and digital innovation.
